

freshcut[™]
— paper —

#1047-2

f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h
f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h
f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h
f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h
f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h
f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h
f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h
f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h
f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h
f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h
f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h f g h

The image displays a handwriting practice page featuring ten rows of cursive script. Each row contains a continuous sequence of lowercase letters 'f', 'g', and 'h'. The first three rows are composed entirely of 'f's, while the remaining seven rows consist of alternating 'g' and 'h' characters. This repetition serves as a drill for maintaining consistency in letter formation and flow during cursive writing.